What it means

A positive TB skin test shows that TB germs have entered your body. The next step is to get a chest x-ray.

The chest x-ray shows a picture of your lungs, and a doctor can tell if there are any signs of TB disease. TB disease makes you sick and can be spread to others.

Most healthy people do not have active TB disease, even if their skin test is positive. However, it is very important that you get a chest x-ray to make sure you are not sick.
